The Georgian Nominated on the 30th Ballot.

WHAT BROKE THE DEADLOCK.

McMillin Withdrew, and Springer Cast the Decisive Vote for Crisp.

A Scene of Wild Excitement When the Vote Was Annuanced-Berr for Clerk, Yoder for Sergeant-at-Arms, Turner for Dourkseper, Milburn for Chaplain-Opening of Congress and Adjournment

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.-Congressman Crisp, of Georgia, was nominated as candidate for Speaker of the House by the Democratic caucus on the 30th ballot. The vote stood: Crisp, 119; Mills, 105: Springer, 4: Stevens, 1,

At 10 o'clock yesterday the caucus reassembled, but the deadlock was no nearer to being broken after two ballots had been taken than it was Saturday night. A recess was taken until 2 p. m., when the twentieth ballot resulted: Crisp 92, Mills 90, Springer 17,

The next two ballots were about the same, but on the 23d the break com-menced. Mr. Hatch cast his vote for

ORABLES PREDERICK CHISP. Crisp and carried with him several of his followers. The vote was: Crisp 100, Mills 94, Springer 13, McMillin 19,

The next six ballots were almost alike, Mr. Crisp on the 29th having 104, and Mr. Mills 94.

Mr. Mills 94.

Before the calling of the roll on the 30th ballot was begun, Mr. McMillin, after a besty consultation with some of his adherents, effected the chamber of his adherents, entered the chamber of the House and amounced his with-drawal from the contest. The an-nomement came like a thunderboit from a clear sky, and for a moment the members present were taken back. Mr. McMillin made his announcement in a speech of about five minutes. He said he withdrew in the interest of party

When the full import of Mr. McMillin's meaning broke on the members, there was a wild shout that expressed there was a will should that expressed approbation, relief and exuitation all in one. The Mills men were jubilant and the Crisp men evidently thought they had equal cause for joy, for they joined in the cheering with a will. Mr. McMillin did not express perferences for any candidate, and there was an aux-ious look on the faces of the Mills and Crisp men as the vots proceeded.

Then the McMillin men divided between the two leaders, seven going to Crisp and eleven to Mills. Mr. McMillin also voted for Mills. When the last name in the 30th bal-

When the last name in the sound that lot had been called, it was found that Crisp had 118 votes—lacking one of nomination. Before the result of the ballot was announced Mr. Springer, who had been waiting in the lobby, entered the caucus and called out to Chairman Holman: 'I desire to have

This was the signal for an outburst of applause and when the clerk had called Mr. Springer's pages and by Mr. Springer's name and he responded,
"I vote for Charles Crisp," the Crisp men broke loose in one wild unrestrained yell. They mounted on desks and chairs and yelled at the top of their votes. Books, handkerchiefs and fn joy, and shouted out words of con-gratulation that were lost in the wild

Out in the ante-room where Judge Crisp was being surrounded by his sup-porters, who were not members, the porters, who were not members, the grows was brought, and cheer after cheer went up from the crowd, and it at a Cabinet meeting he opposed any was taken up by those inside the Crisp headquarters. Judge Crisp took the news of his election quietly, but those with him did not; they emulated the doings of the Crisp men in the House and jumped on chairs and other articles of furniture. The withdrawal of Mr Springer caused some change in the vote Springer caused some change in the vote that was about to be announced. Four of Mr. Springer's supporters voted for Orisp, who, when the vote had been announced, was compelled to make a Representative Kerr, of Pennsylvania, was then nominated for Clerk; ex-Representative Yoder, of Ohio, for Sergeantat-Arms; ex-Representative Turuer, of New York, for Doorkesper, and Rev. Mr. Milburn for Chaptain. The caucus then adjourned.

ASSEMBLING OF CONGRESS.

Proceedings of the Sonate-House Immediately Adjourned WASHINGTON, Dec. 8 -After the Sen ate had been called to order yesterday by Vice President Morton, he taid before the Senators the credentials of new Senators and the letters of resignation received by him during the recess.

Those papers were read, the first be ing the letter of resignation of Senates Reagan, of Texas, and the appointment by the Governor of that State of Mr.

Chilton in his stead. The next credentials read was fill the was elect of Mr. Felton, of California, to fill the was elect of Mr. Felton. or that State at the time of his election, and was, therefore, not eligible to a seat in this body.

"On examining the precedents (of which there are several in the history of the government and some of them most important). I am entirely satisfied that Mr. Brice is entitled to be sworn in on the prima facte case of his credentials, which are regular in form. I simply give this notice, however, so that his being sworn may not be ever; so that his being sworn may not be considered any wavier or any misappre-heasion or misconstruction if the people of Chic should assert and prove to the satisfaction of the Somie that Mr. Brice was not at the time of his election au inhabitant of Ohio. I think that this statement from me is proper and necessary. But I make no objection to the awearing in of Mr. Brice."

The awearing in of the newly-elected (or appointed) was then proceeded

As soon as all the new Senators were sworn in, Mr. Sherman offered the usual resolution for the appointment of two Senators to join a like committee on the part of the House to wait on the President of the United States and in-form him that a quorum of each House was assembled, and that Congress was ready to receive any communication he might be pleased to make. The resolution was agreed to, and Mesers Sherman and Harris were appointed.

Resolutions were offered and agreed to fixing noon as the daily hoar of meeting, and directing the secretary to inform the House of Representatives that the Senate was ready to proceed to business, and then the Senate adjourned until to-day.

The name of Gov. Hill, Senator-elect from New York, was not printed on the list of Senators, nor were his credentials presented.

Immediately after roll call by the Clerk the House adjourned until noon to-day. There were 320 members pres-

Pollock, the bookkeeper for Gabe Case's place at Mount St. Vincent. Pollock had heard that the head looked like that of Prof. A. A. Denton, a crank who called himself the ghost of George Washington, and said the happiest moment of his life would be when certain rich men would be strong at the arm of the Goddess of Liberty.

Mr. Poliock had known the man, and brought a number of photographs with which to identify him. There was unquestionably a strong likeness, but in a few details the heads were radically different, and the identification was not established. Identification is becoming more difficult every hour.

Southworth, the alleged partner of the deal crank, was taken to Bellevus Hospital yesterday to be examined as to his sanity.

In searching the effects of Southworth Inspector Byrnes found just such a badge as that which had been worn by Lecturer Horne's strange visitor.
